EQAO Reading Section - Tips for Students

The reading questions on the test fall into two types: multiple choice and written answers.

Multiple Choice

- Read the question and try to answer it BEFORE you look at the answers.
- When you are ready to answer, make sure you look at all the answers before choosing.
- If the question asks you something you are not sure of, see if you can cross out any of the wrong answers before you guess.
- Do not keep changing your answer unless you have a good reason to change it. Circle the number of the question if you really are not sure of the answer.
- After you have finished the test, go back to the questions you circled and try again. Re-read the selection to see if you can find the answer now.
- If you are still not sure, guess. Never leave a blank on a multiple choice test.
